Mr. Cook, the president returned Sept. 16 from the national meeting of the Coopers International association held in the city of New York. He was the only colored man present. No discrimination was made on account of his color was the statement made by him.

OPENING DATE OF THE GREAT COLORED CARNIVAL AND AMUSEMENT COMPANY CHANGED TO OCT. 6TH TO 19TH.

This large attraction is being given under the auspices of the Negro Business League.

The purpose for this large attraction during the State Fair aside from enhancing the treasury of the League for work along lines of encouraging Negro business establishments, is to afford our people a place of clean and wholesome amusement for their enjoyment as they come in large numbers during the State Fair.

It is a well known fact that, heretofore, a very few of the fair's attractions have been opened to Negroes. As a rule, we are forced to pick our chances to see different attractions of the fair's exhibits; and then, in an absolutely segregated way. However, we hope this condition will not obtain during the coming fair.

Therefore, we make this appeal to our people to give this amusement feature their full support and encouragement. The League has taken every necessary step to see to it that every attendant at the carnival will have the proper protection and courtesy extended to him.

Mr. Phillips who has charge of the Carnival, comes well recommended from different sections of the state where he has conducted these Carnivals, and from Waco in particular. J. H. DIXON, President. V. L. S. BOOKER, Secy. Negro Business League.

LIVELY BOUT STAGED ON STREET CAR.

White and Colored passengers staged a lively bout on an inbound South Lamar Street Car Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

Trouble started it is alleged when a white passenger attempted to make a Colored lady get up from a seat she was occupying just above the race sign and in her refusal he slapped her. Colored men on the car challenged the affront by mixing the blows after which a lively fistfight ensued by male passengers of both races. One white man was knocked down in the scuffle.

At Pacific and St. Paul streets men engaged, all alighted from the car and in a few minutes were scattered. Police officers were summoned but by the time of their arrival the combatants had disappeared only one man, A. G. Weems was identified and later arrested. He immediately made bond and was released to appear at Corporation Court at 4 o'clock Wednesday evening.

At 4 o'clock Wednesday evening Judge Robertson postponed the case indefinitely.

PUSH DON'T SHOVE

First Negro Trade week launched by Dallas Negroes was a success. It succeeded in uniting two great powers, the press and the pulpit, and started the people to thinking. It brought the forces of Negro business men together and added new blood and new life therein.

Many of those who already participated reported that their receipts were greater that week than ever before. It is well worth the time, gentlemen, get some push but don't shove. Negro business can not thrive unless the proper amount of push is instilled into it, the more ginger added the greater the results will be and as a matter of fact a merchant gets out in proportion to what he puts into his business. He should use common sense, by asking any cause that will help his business.

WRITER THINKS WORLD IS CURIOUS.

This is a curious world, particularly so in some localities. The writer has in mind an incident which occurred in a restaurant in the city of Rockwall, Texas, Wednesday, Sept. 25th. While he was at his best desk, he saw before him a Negro in the way of food, a Negro well known to the writer, was sitting nearby picking a chance to get at the writer's pocket book containing $40.00 in currency; for he knew full well I had the money. He didn't have any. The thief got mine, and made his way on down to Dallas where he was most sure of being out of the way of the strong arms of justice. I still had a dime in my pocket. I paid for my lunch, and was soon on my way to Dallas, too. Did I see him? Oh, yes, and then.

MAKING GOOD.

A Negro in an unusual profession has to prove to his own people that he knows his business. This gentleman has done that. Last week he had several cases among the most prominent people here and he succeeded where others had failed to give comfort. Dr. Horton, 209 Pythian Temple is the only colored eye man in town. He is an expert optometrist.

Professionally trained in a leading white optical college in Kansas City, he knows he ought to be the equal of his white competitors. His work proves him superior to many of them.
